

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT
Ottawa, October 10.—The Canadian farmer will play an important role in the war. The problem just now is how to plan production when the bulk of it is still a secret. Departments of Agriculture, colleges and technical agriculturists are grappling with the matter but they admit the limitations of present knowledge. A conference was held at Ottawa last week and the whole field surveyed as carefully as possible. A few general propositions were laid down with some precision. Several definite steps to control prices and markets in specific commodities have already been taken, and others are planned.

The wheat farmer is profoundly concerned, of course, with a heavy crop just harvested. The situation has many awkward angles. All British buying is in the hands of J. Rank, the British miller. It appears that as part of the economic war against Germany supplies are being lifted from the Italians and other areas which might supply the enemy. Prices somewhat above the world market are being paid to attract this wheat.

(Lower Canadian demand.)
Meanwhile, of course, this lessens the demand upon Canadian wheat. Exports to all countries in the first two months of the war were only twenty two millions. October is usually the best export month but the submarine menace and Britain's buying policy may delay shipments.

The statistical position does not encourage a belief in a sharp rise in wheat prices. If left alone, the market would probably not go up for a while. There is a strong sentiment across the continent for exportation, even continuing to sell wheat even to Britain, at a figure below the cost of production. The first decision of the government was to let the 70 cent minimum price rise, and to leave the Winnipeg market nominally open. This policy may be revised later, as the least difficulty will arise if a higher minimum price is set before the season ends, because many farmers are now accepting the open market price and will feel victimized if later on the government minimum is raised. Those who sell to the board, of course, partake in any additional returns.

The long view for wheat is better, though highly obscure. Much depends upon the extent of war ravages in Europe. In the last war over 19 mill being destroyed.

Wedding

VOERMANS — BLAIS

Sacred Heart Church, Strathmore, was the scene of a pretty wedding. The bride, Miss Marie Blais, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Blais, of Gleichen, became the bride of Joseph P. Voermans, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Voermans of Strathmore.

Entering the church on the arm of the father, the bride made a pleasing picture in a floor length gown of the blue net over satin trimmed with pink bows. With this she wore a pale blue chapel veil which was caught in front with a tiara of pearls. Silver slipper, lace gloves and a bouquet of sweethearts roses and carnations completed her ensemble.

The bridesmaid Miss Rose Desjarlais wore a navy blue dress and a burgundy colored hat. She had a carriage of red roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Edward Blais, brother of the bride. Mr. A. Dug of Midnapore, a sister of the bride, played the wedding music and Mrs. O. Desjarlais of Gleichen, another sister of the bride, sang to the wedding music.

Following Mass, which was said by Rev. A. E. Rouleau, P. P., and during which Mr. O. Desjarlais sang, the bride and groom were led in the King Edward Hotel.

The bride's mother chose a becoming dress of navy crepe for the occasion and the groom's mother wore a dress of black velvet. Both had corsages of red roses.

The table was covered with the wedding cake which was topped with miniature bride and groom. The dining room was tastefully decorated with colored streamers.

About thirty relatives and close friends of the family were present at the wedding dinner after which the young couple left for a holiday in the mountains.

REVENGE IS SWEET
From Maclean's Magazine. A protest last school teacher was recently stopped in Detroit for driving through a red light and given a ticket calling for her appearance in traffic court the following Monday. She went at once to the judge, told him she had to be at her classes then, and asked for the immediate disposal of her case. So said the judge sternly, you're a school teacher. That's fine. Making your presence here fulfill a long-standing ambition for me. For years I have yearned to have a school teacher in this court. Now, be thankful, you sit right down at that table over there and write. I went through a Stop sign 500 times.

30 Years in Lippert
Ottawa.—Robert W. Lippert, president of the parliamentary press gallery and long time editor of The Toronto Star, died in Ottawa City Hospital recently after a brief illness.

A brilliant and versatile journalist, Lippert's life was known to all Canadians. Lippert was known in the course of his long newspaper career throughout the entire section. He had travelled far and wide across the dominion and was held in highest esteem by fellow newspapermen. He held the confidence with whom he had come in contact.

Mr. Lippert had a capacity for making and holding friends. His advice was sought and respected by his colleagues in the press gallery.

CAN HAULEN TIMES THEIR OWN WEIGHT

Just before the completion of the Liverpool and Manchester Railroad in England, the company offered a prize of five hundred pounds (£500) to the locomotive that could haul ten times its own weight. Three engines competed for the prize which went to George Stephenson on October 6, 1825, for his famous "Rocket", made with 12 1/2 tons of metal, made the remarkable record of 14 miles an hour.

Today the 4400 engines of the Canadian National Railway, the largest streamlined steam locomotives in the British Empire, are capable of reaching a speed of 100 miles an hour. The "Rocket" was built from the same source. Set the plants not less than 3 feet apart in the row or 325 tons and can haul more than 10 times their own weight.

NEWS BRIEFS

300 Steer Hides Needed To Make One Belt
The largest leather belt in Canada has just been installed at the plant of the Ogilvie Flour Mill in Medicine Hat.

The hides of three hundred innocent steers would be needed to make one belt, reverting to the ancient practice of turning the mill that ground the wheat—not this time, by gently floating around a large stone, but by flying at sixty miles an hour around a twenty-two foot pulley.

There are three piles in this belt, each 75 inches wide. It has a length of 125 feet and weighs exactly one ton.

The old belt, which this replaces, was made of the hides of 300 steers, and was used to turn the mill. For fifty years it did its duty. The new belt is expected to function for a long time.

WAR'S CURSE ON WARWICK DESTROYS CENTURIES' ART
Great Works Lost
Warwick now goes into history as the city that in 1939 first saw war.

Most of the visible art in the great city of Chelton, Padestrey and Mickover (Poland's national poet) has now been destroyed by a nation whose greatest glory was Beethoven, Goethe, Schiller, Wagner, Brahms, Schubert and Bach. The War of history is now in ruins.

COSSACKS SING WAY THROUGH SUB ZONE
Chorists Escaped Germany on Eve of Hostilities
Crossing the Atlantic aboard the Stangerfjord, Norwegian liner which they caught at Oslo after their dramatic departure from Germany on the eve of hostilities, the Don Cossack chorus arrived in New York this week.

Thus they ensured the scheduled opening on the night of Oct. 6, of what promises to be one of the most successful seasons in Minsky Hall's history.

While the ship layed the Coast Guard, the Cossacks literally had to slip for their passage. The captain stipulated they must put on a nightly concert for the edification of less fortunate passengers. Because of the heavy odour of Americans, ship capacity was over taxed a lounge was converted into sleeping quarters for the 36 chorists and Serge Jaroff, their diminutive conductor.

Standard

Mr Fred Christensen returned to the University of Alberta last week after spending the summer as attendant at the Provincial Mental Hospital at Ponoka.

Miss Clara Sorensen left for her home in Cochrane last week, after which she will resume her job in the Dania Hotel.

Miss Violet Blackwell, for several months cook at the Dania Hotel, left during the week for a new position in Calgary.

Miss Freda Selgensen and a friend spent the weekend at the farm returning to school Monday.

Last Monday an unfortunate accident occurred west of town when Mr.
Axel Larsen overturned his tractor on a hillside while combining. Fortunately,
Mr. Larsen is recovering from his injuries and will soon be up and about.

Due to the unsettled weather conditions combining and threshing is only about 60% advanced in this district. Hail over the week-end add greatly to the delay.

Several new cars have made their appearance in the district. Among the new owners are Chris Christensen and Ray Grien.

TO START AN ASPARAGUS BED

Asparagus likes rich deep soil, plough or dig the piece of ground deeply and as your soil is sandy incorporate a good quantity of manure in soil operation. Do this this fall. As the planting is done early in spring procure such plants as you require from your nearest nurseryman, or through a seedhouse as early in spring as possible. In planting, plow or dig out a drill 7 to 8 inches deep, sowed out the rods and cover the tops with two inches of soil. For home gardening the plants may be set 2 feet apart in the row and four feet between rows. As growth develops during the summer, gradually fill in the soil until finally the surface is level.

The Ladies Club held their regular meeting Thursday last. They plan to start Red Cross work shortly.

ADULT EDUCATION, A VITAL SET-UP IN PROGRESS AND CO-OPERATION IN A MODERN COMMUNITY

Extracts From Professor Cameron's Address in Edmonton

Adult education, he said, was not only concerned with providing practical background but was a part of life itself designed for social action. While elementary and secondary education might be passive adult education must be dynamic. He lauded the lead by the dominion government in providing youth training.

Philosophy of Life—While co-operation in the west has stressed the economic side, educators were much more interested in co-operation as a philosophy of life. With the limited means at his disposal the extension department aimed to multiply rural leadership. He illustrated the recent community life school held at Okla as an effort to awaken social consciousness and hoped regional schools would follow.

No program of social betterment could be carried out without sound education; it was linked with co-operation as one of the pillars. He reviewed statistics of youthful progress as revealed by a survey conducted among 2,700 youths of the province attending youth training classes and cited them as a basis for providing information for drafting a program of education to meet community needs.

An illuminating list of statistics was given by Professor Cameron, which will be published in a future issue of The Standard.

SNOW WHITE AND THE SUBMARINE

When Walt Disney's film story of "Snow White" was being prepared, whoever wrote the music and lyrics little thought that hit titling words and tune of the song, "Hi-Bo, Hi-Bo, It's Off to Work We Go," would some day be adapted for war use. Fifteen-year-old Dick Emerson of Plymouth was a bugler on H. M. aircraft carrier Courageous when she was torpedoed, supplies the connection. Telling how, after the command, "Every man for himself," he swam to a raft with fifty others, he said, "As we paddled away we began to sing, 'Hi-Bo.'"

The sailors' and soldiers' version is, "Hi-Bo, Hi-Bo, It's Off to War We Go." It makes a capital war song. "What is it makes a war song? No one—not even one of the broadcasting stations—played Chopin's funeral march when the news of the collapse of Poland was given. Yet Chopin wrote it as a lament for the pumdered Polish people."

In 1914, a music hall hit "Tipperary" written with no thought of use in war time became the marching song of the British armies. Not depth of sentiment or profound assertion of human rights, as in the case of the Marseillaise, but lightness, carefree words and melody save the British Jack and Tommy at war time. He goes into war with a quip or a jest, confident if the worst comes, there's another, and better life awaiting. —The Edmonton Bulletin

Second (to battered pugilist): "Come on! Shake yourself together! One more round!"
Pugilist (still dazed): "Was I in that last round?"

Mother: "I cannot understand why you are always fighting with Willie Smith. I'm sure he has a very nice face."
Pugilist son: "Well, he hasn't now."

CANADIAN COAL FOR

"The move by Sulbury coal dealers to draw attention to the possibilities of Alberta coal is one in which Sulbury householders might well follow the advice offered—that they invest in Alberta coal when ordering their winter fuel."

"Aside altogether from the burning qualities of the coal, there are other important considerations which enter into the question. There is, first of all, the question of our pocket-book. Sulbury coal dealers are going to be forced to advance the price of American anthracite at least 10 per cent. That is the present rate of exchange between Canadian and American money. The coal dealers, buying American coal, must pay it in American funds at ultimately that ten per cent must be passed on to the consumer."

"But there are other less selfish things to be taken into consideration. Alberta coal is Canadian coal. When a Sulbury resident buys Canadian coal his money remains in Canada. It is not going into the United States to help finance an unfavorable trade balance to the Dominion in times of war. He is helping to conserve Canada's gold supply, a vital factor in war times. And it is helping to provide jobs for Canadian miners who will, in turn, help to provide the sinews of war for Canadian troops."

"It is a patriotic, as well as a common sense appeal, that the Sulbury coal dealers are making. Investigating Alberta coal before buying any kind can pay big dividends."

THE A. P. A.

The Young People have started this year's program with a flourish. An unusually energetic group seems to have combined to produce interesting programs and an enthusiastic group spirit prevails. The first edition night was handled by Margaret Nielsen's group and they obtained Mr. Schutte who gave an exceptionally interesting talk on his recent trip east. Mr. Schutte gave an account of smaller and larger places in Quebec, the impressions on gains of the World's Fair, and the general conditions obtained in that country. His many engaging slides, he carried his listeners attention with him on the whole trip.

Tuesday, 10th October was Worship night, and three questions were chosen from a number band in by the Young People by Margaret Groves group, an address was in open session after a carefully planned worship period in the Church. One of the three was left over for discussion at a later date.

Next week will be work night, and is in charge of Lawrence Downey's group.

Andy Devine Returns To Benny With Not One Cue Missing—

Andy Devine, 215 pounds of dilapidated vocal equipment that sounds like a cement mixer with striped gears, bails Jack Benny for the fourth consecutive year with his famous "Hi ya, Buck" when tech program returns over CFAC Sundays, 5:00 p.m.

Unlike his fellow heavy-weight, Don Wilson, who hopped off nearly 20 lbs. this summer, Andy hasn't parted with a solitary ounce during his rather strenuous vacation. He thought he'd dropped a couple of pounds, one day when he climbed on the kitchen scales, but just as he was about to congratulate himself the scales collapsed.

Andy, who's well past his hundredth birthday, is back in his familiar role of Jack's alternator heckler and pal. And it all developed out of Jack's invitation to Andy to be a guest star for one broadcast. Andy enjoyed his small taste of radio so much that he came back the following week, and the next. Just hung around watching and listening and dropping broad hints about how much he'd enjoy another crack at that mike.

Finally, Jack let Andy try the "Hi ya, Buck" role in the sheriff series, and the gravel-voiced comic has been a Benny regular ever since.

Today, in addition to his radio and picture work Andy serves as mayor of Van Nuys, is recognized as one of California's leading sportsmen, and lives comfortably with his wife and two sons on Andy Rancho, a prosperous pony ranch.
